TO CLOSE OFFICE

MISSOURI DIV. OF FOOD CONTROL WILL QUIT JANUARY 31

A REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Further Direction of Activities Will Be Carried Out by Washington—Some Rules Still in Force.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 20.—The Missouri Division of the United States Food Administration will come to an end January 31, F. B. Mumford, federal food administrator for Missouri, has announced. On that day the offices in Columbia will close as well as the offices of all county food administrators.

Many of the rules and regulations of the Food Administration have been rescinded, but those still in force must be observed, according to Mr. Mumford. Then enforcement of the remaining rules will be carried on by the Washington office.

"The remarkable success of the Food Administration in Missouri is due in a large measure to the patriotic, voluntary support of consumers, dealers and proprietors of hotels, and restaurants," said Mr. Mumford. 'All of the requests made during the last year were cheerfully followed out. The women of the state deserve much credit for the way in which they not only observed all our requests for conservation in food, but did active work in order that the necessary food might be saved.

"A year ago the situation was critical. The Allies needed wheat. Without bread their morale would collapse. This collapse was feared by officials of the Food Administration. The wheat had to be provided out of our own stores and we had no more than enough for our own use. What was sent had to be what was saved from our normal consumption.

"The people of Missouri were quick to see the absolute military necessity of sending wheat across to the needy Allies. And they saved. Wheat consumption in the state was reduced from 50 to 75 per cent. There was little grumbling. Some few made no attempts to conserve, but they were the great minority.

"The county food administrators and their deputies and the women food chairmen did splendid work in carrying out the requests and the regulations of the Food Administration. They worked purely from patriotic motives and performed a great service.

"We of the Food Administration also feel deeply indebted to the newspapers of the state for their loyal cooperation. The editors of Missouri gladly gave space in their papers to news of the Food Administration. Without their aid we should have labored under a great handicap."

RY LOAN TO BE LAST

Not Exceed 6 Billions and May Be But 5 Billions—Drive Last Three Weeks in April.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Only one more war loan drive is planned by the treasury department according to Secretary Glass. It will be the Victory Liberty loan to be floated probably the last three weeks in April. The amount will not be more than $6,000,000,000, and may be $5,000,000,000.

"I expect the Victory Liberty loan to be the last intensive campaign for the sale of government bonds," said Mr. Glass. "Reports that there would be two more bond issues this year aggregating $12,000,000,000, are entirely without foundation, not only as to amount, but also as regards the number of campaigns."

More bonds probably will be issued by the government, even after the next campaign, but it is planned to market these quietly through banks, and other financial institutions, without the usual campaign of advertising and soliciting. The amount of securities to be sold in this manner will not be determined for months, until the treasury gets a more definite idea of the volume of expenses growing out of liquidating of war contracts, the Allies' needs for further loans and the demands arising from continuing the policy of making loans to railroads, financing the next wheat crop, continuing shipbuilding, and other internal obligations.

2 YEARS FOR GOBIN

PATHETIC SCENE IN COURT AS SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

HIS ATTORNEY'S PLEA

Impresses Court With Earnestness—Judge Dawson Will Consider Parole If Red Cross Asks It.

Raymond E. Gobin, charged with obtaining money from the Red Cross on a worthless check was sentenced by Judge John M. Dawson in circuit court this morning to two years in the state penitentiary, the minimum sentence being imposed.

A pathetic scene was enacted in the court room following the sentence of the young sailor and manipulator of worthless checks as court officials, attaches and spectators witnessed the grief of a mother and sister.

Young Gobin offered no defense, but through his attorney, A. D. Bennett, of Miami, Okla., pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for a parole. Attorney Bennett said that Gobin committed his first crime when he swore falsely to his age in order to enlist in the navy, being but nineteen years old at the time. A fatherless boy from infancy, Mr. Bennett declared had grown up without being made to realize his obligations to society and that the course he had pursued was due to association. Liquor, immoral women and fast companions were also shown to have played an important part in his career of the last few months. Mr. Bennett asked that he be paroled to some responsible citizen of Miami and that he assume the obligation of repayment to those whom he had defrauded. He presented to the court a petition signed by county and city officers and citizens of his home town, asking that he be paroled.

Prosecuting Attorney Chas. McCaffrey after reviewing the circumstances in connection with Gobin's arrest said he would recommend that the court assess punishment.

Judge Dawson in pronouncing sentence told Gobin that he felt little sympathy for him,, but that his heart went out to his mother and sister. "You are evidently a young man of education and refinement and have brought this on yourself and I feel that a parole, unless recommended by officials of the Red Cross, would not be proper."

Judge Dawson said that should Red Cross officials recommend a parole before Gobin was taken from the jurisdiction of the court he would give it consideration.

During the proceedings Gobin, seated beside his mother and sister wept frequently. As sentence was pronounced, his sister, Miss Musa Gobin, broke down and throwing her arms about her brother's neck sobbed out her grief. The mother also gave evidence of distress and several times gave way to tears.

When her son was led away by Sheriff Dowden, she pressed forward and taking Judge Dawson by the hand and thanked him for the consideration he had shown.

Miss Denny, coach and her aggregation of players gave the Hopkinsites a run for their money, however, and played a good game, but their opponents were too fast for them.

WORLD LABOR PLAN

Wilson Seriously Considering Naming More Members to Make Complete Quota—Home Next Month.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The peace representatives of the big five—England, France, America, Japan and Italy, met at the foreign office today to canvass the intricate problems involved in the conference but notably the situation in Russia. Grave concern among the international statesmen attending the conference concerning the threat of the Bolsheviki to spread through Europe is reflected in the decision to appoint a committee to investigate legislation regarding international labor. The investigations dealing with labor are under way.

It is felt some concrete foundations had been laid down for world wide agreements regarding wages, length of working hours, capacity of production, workmen's habitations, physical needs of workers and their families, and regulations of the part women and children are to play in the labor world of the future.

Washington, Jan. 20.—That President Wilson is seriously considering the appointment of an additional member of the American peace delegation, was learned today from authoritative source. According to confidential advices reaching Washington through official channels, the President inclines to the belief that during his absence from the conference for he is to sail home early next month, America should be represented by full quota of five delegates. Among the type of men expected to be appointed are the names of ex-President Taft and former Secretary of State Elihu Root.

ABOUT ROOSEVELT AND OTHERS.

(By W. C. Van Cleve).

The death of Theodore Roosevelt ends the most picturesque political career within the memory of this generation. His ability, his resourcefulness, his wonderful energy and enthusiasm made him a power in public life. Col. Roosevelt was a many sided man. Rarely has there been prominent in politics a man who had acquired distinction in so many fields of human endeavor. Ordinarily, the man who scatters shot hits nothing effectually but Col. Roosevelt was a rare exception. He won fame as a writer, as an artist, as an explorer, as a student, as a cowboy in the west, as a rough rider in the east, was prominent in naval affairs, commanded a regiment in the Spanish-American war and was elevated to the highest civil office within the gift of the American people.

He came of sturdy Holland stock and had ample means to enable him to choose his own life. In that he was different from most of our best men but he was also different from most men left in comfortable circumstances in that he chose a life of strenuous activity. After entering politics, he became a vigorous, forceful speaker. He was governor of his state, assistant secretary of the navy, vice president and afterward president of the United States.

His death is a distinct loss to the progressive element of the republican party and leaves the party in undisputed control of the reactionaries. Col. Roosevelt, had he lived, might or might not have been the next republican presidential nominee but, whether he was or not, he would have had much to say about who was. He could not be ignored. There is no one left among the progressive faction to whom the Penroses, Smoots and Lodges need pay much attention. His death has not only removed from our public life one of its greatest characters but it has left his party without a real progressive leader and left it more thoroughly in control of the "old crowd" than it has been for many years. Col. Roosevelt had a wonderful store of knowledge about many things. His conclusions were not always correct but he did as much as any other one man to make countless millions think.

In obedience to the wishes of the President, the House of Representatives has voted an appropriation of $100,000,000 to help feed the starving people of Europe. The President believes that reason can not be expected of men with hungry stomachs. That is true, but the difficulty, in most parts of Europe, is that the fellows who are stirring up all the trouble have money. They have plundered their own governments and robbed all decent people to get it. They not only have money, but they are sending it into other countries in order to stir up strife throughout the world. It is difficult to see how any good can be done, in Russia for instance, without sending artillery and ammunition along with every loaf of bread and bushel of wheat to see that the real sufferers get it. If a certain number of Bolshevik leaders could be stood up against a stone wall and unceremoneously shot, it wouldn't be long until the honest, industrious people of that country would be raising food for themselves. The Old World is in a bad way and it is going to take the best thought of the remaining orderly governments to restore livable conditions.

A cane is an old man's strenght and a young man's weakness. A cigarette is a badge of weakness at any age.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

A Single Remedy Often Cures Many Diseases

BY VALENTINE MOTT, M. D.

It is almost impossible to give a list of the endless diseases that follow indigestion. Perhaps a whole column in this newspaper would be required to print them all. You eat to keep alive—to supply blood and flesh and bone and muscle and brain. It is easy to see that if your food is not digested and taken up by the delicate organs and distributed where it is needed, a disease of some sort is sure to come. Dyspepsia is a common symptom, and so are liver complaint, loss of flesh, nervousness, bad memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, no appetite. Many times, when neglected, indigestion results in coughs, throat diseases, catarrh, bronchitis and even more dangerous things. And all these disorders arise because the food is not properly digested in the stomach. It is plain even to a child that relief and cure are to be had only by setting up a healthy condition in the stomach. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., many years ago combined a number of vegetable growths into a temperance remedy for indigestion, and called it Golden Medical Discovery. It is probably the most efficacious discovery ever made in medicine, for the list of people all over the world who have had their countless ills overcome by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes an amazing total of thousands.

I know of no advice better than this: Begin a home treatment today with this good vegetable medicine. It will show you better than I can tell you what it will do. When taking Golden Medical Discovery, you can rest assured of one very important thing—it contains neither alcohol nor opiates. There is nothing in it but standard roots and herbs that possess curative properties of a high order. A safe medicine is the only kind you can afford to take.

HE "GOT THROUGH"

BUT CAPT. DELEHANTY ADMITS HE WAS SCARED

FOUND LOST BATTALION

Former New York Architect Takes 177 Yanks and Leads Way in Dark, Securing Valuable Information.

Paris, Dec. 18.—(By Mail).—How Captain Bradley Delehanty, of the 308th, "got through to Whittlesey," when that now famous battalion commander was cut off in the Argonne Forest is a story that ranks with the heroic defense of Whittlesey itself.

Like Whittlesey, Delehanty is a city man, a New Yorker. He is a dapper little architect. But he comes of fighting blood. He is a son of the late Captain Daniel Delehanty, of the navy, who hopped down from the bridge of his gunboat off Matanzas, Cuba, in 1898, and himself pointed the gun that sent the last Spanish flag toppling off the battlements of the old forts there. He is a nephew of Supreme Court Justice Francis B. Delehanty of New York.

Before the war he had studied in Paris, so when he arrived in France his knowledge of the language soon landed him on the regimental staff as intelligence officer.

But during that fierce month of fighting up through the gun-blasted Argonne, as Delehanty says, reverting to the navy, "it was a case of all hands and the cook," and so it was that on the night of this particular exploit he was in command of a company of the 308th Infantry of the 77th Divison, the draft division of New York City.

Whittlesey, in command of his immortal battalion, was leading the advance. With his grim jaw set and his shoulders hunched he was forming the tough spearhead of the American advance to the west of the Meuse. He had got orders to go ahead and he had done it. He had done it better than any one thought he could—and he had been surrounded. A dozen ineffectual attempts had been made to pierce the screen of German machine guns and trench mortars that had filtered in behind him. When night fell the Colonel of the 308th sent for Delehanty.

"Go up to the support," he said, "Take command of K Company and get into touch with Whittlesey. We're geting nothing but a pigeon message from him now."

"It's tough country, that Argonne," Delehanty told the story later. "It's hard country to get through in the daytime. It's worse at night. And when I got up to K Company, machine gun bullets were flying like locusts, and whizz-bangs out of those trench mortars were flopping over every thirty seconds, and blowing boys to smithereens when they hit. I sent out half a dozen runners. But none of them ever came back. Finally I sent out two whole patrols with orders to reach Whittlesey by different routes. Then I reported to the Colonel. Anything else meant moving the whole company, and I had to ask him about that.

"Then every half hour or so he'd call on the telephone and ask me if I'd heard from these patrols. Finally about midnight, he couldn't stand it any longer,

"'Delehanty,' he said 'you've got a hundred and seventy-seven men there with you. You take them all. You go up through the woods until you connect with Whittlesey and you keep at it until you do get him, if you only have seven men left when you get there.'"

And Delehanty got there—n' seven, but with the whole hundred and seventy-seven. But he frankly admits he was scared.

"Well," he said turning with a grin to Lieutenant Scott, General Scott's son, who was with him. "This is good-bye, old kid."

"Yeah," replied Scott, "it looks like good-bye."

Delehanty called the company round him. He told them what the orders were. Not a man flinched.

"There's one chance of getting up there," said the young captain.

"If we go through the woods we'll get lost and shot. But there's a railroad track running up that way. If we follow that we may get shot—but we won't get lost. It's single file and every man keep a hand on the man ahead of him. Come on."

And Delehanty led the file. A tiny radio compass gave him the direction. The railroad embankment had been shelled and machine-gunned for hours. By a strange streak of luck the Boche had decided to let it alone for a few minutes. And K Company snaked up that track between bursts, the whole one hundred and sesventy-seven of them.

Suddenly Delehanty bumped into something.

It was Whittlesey's battalion.

"Holy smokes," he cried. "I didn't think you were this close."

eSa.1nse'.,Vvf....$M..o.KTl

"Sh Sh!" rasped the quick answer. "The Boche is there and there and there. He'll hear you." And he might have at that for the nervy band had sneaked through the single gap in the Boche ring. But they had established contact with Whittlesey.

One of the Whittlesey command had just killed a German officer. He had found on him a map of the whole neighboring woods, drawn up to the last minute. It revealed the whole problem that the Americans had been trying for days to solve in the dark. Delehanty was the regimental intelligence officer. He sent this message back to the Colonel.

"Have information of great importance. Shall I remain command K Company or return? Am with Whittlesey."

And the answer came back:

"Return."

So that is why Delehanty happened not to be with the Whittlesey battalion the next night when they were cut off for good and when they stayed cut off for nearly a whole week. But the map he brought back from that dead German officer was the map that enabled the American brigade finally to smash through to the ravine where Whittlesey's men were fighting and dying. Incidentally, it was the map that helped the Americans, too, to go far beyond. It was his nerve that took him through for the last connection with Whittlesey. It was his appreciation of the information he happened on that sent him back again over the perilous trail, and it was that information that eventually got Whittlesey out of his death ravine.

"Delehanty," they say in the Seventy seventh, "went through."

WAS AFRAID TO GO ON TOP OF HOUSE

Painter Was so Weak Could Hardly Walk—Gains Twenty Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

"I will cheerfully tell anyone who is looking for something to build them up, that Tanlac certainly brought me out of the kinks," was the characteristic statement made by John A. Meyers, house painter and decorator of Beardan, Washington, while in Margettroyd's at Spakane, Washington, recently.

"I can't say that I suffered any particular pain," he continued. "I believe I could have gone a week without feeling hungry. What little I did eat was forced down and seemed to do me no good, as I lost weight and strength all the time. I had gotten down to almost skin and bones and was so weak that I was actually afraid to go up on a house to paint. My energy had left me and I had gotten to where I could not hold out to do a whole day's work.

"I had read about Tanlac being fine for people in a run-down condition, and I have already gained twenty pounds. And speaking of appetites, I've got the best one I ever had. Meal times come too slow for me and when they do get around I hardly know when to quit eating. I have gotten my strength and energy back, too, and now I can do as much work as any man my age. I had been losing ground two or three years and nothing ever hit the spot until I got Tanlac, so it certainly is the medicine for me."

Tanlac is sold in Maryville by the Koch Pharmacy and by A. M. Colley of Burlington'5fwyprdlu aoin rdlu ldr of Conception Junction.—Adv.

Red Cross News From Nodaway Auxiliaries

MRS ARTHUR M. CROOKE
Phone, Hanamo 4364

(Note:—Please report or send all news of Red Cross Activities to the editor of this column)

The following letter comes from the Southwest Division in regard to garments.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13, 1919.—To All Chapters: Doubtless all of our chapter executives and workers as well, realize that our production program has been seriously interferred with for two reasons: First, the signing of the Armistice gave out the erroneous impression that Red Cross work was at an end, and second, the Influenza epidemic has been such a serious matter that many chapters have been entirely unable to carry on their production on program. This leaves us with some excess materials on hand which chapters have not been able to take, owing to the fact that they were literally, physically unable to do the work.

Knowing that refugee clothing must be gotten out and realizing the vital importance of completing this production order, we are going to ask all chapters that can possibly do so to take additional production orders. The garments are cut and ready for immediate shipment. Therefore, if you can take additional work, notify us immediately and we will have the shipments go out at once.

As we have said before, it is absolutely necessary that this work is completed, and many communities unable to get nurses, have had to close their workrooms and give all their time to taking care of the ill of their vicinity. Of course, they cannot do what they would otherwise have done. Therefore, let us state again that we will be very grateful for the assistance of other chapters in this matter, and if it is possible for you to do extra work for the month of February, notify us immediately so that shipments may be started.

Thanking you most sincerely for this co-operation, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,
(MISS) KATHERINE BURLINGAME,
Director, Bureau of Production, Southwest Division, A. R. C., St. Louis, Mo.

The Alderman-Yehle Auxiliary met Tuesday evening with 10 members in attendance.

Woodmen Circle met Thursday night instead of Monday night owing to the Baptist which meets on Monday nights also. The Woodmen Circle will meet hereafter on Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Rockford Auxiliary met Wednesday, Jan. 15. This date was the first anniversary of the Rockford Auxiliary. During the forty meetings held, the 36 members have completed 9,055 articles in surgical dressings, nine pair socks, eleven sweaters, six pair drawers, three boys suits and two quilt tops. This auxiliary has a service flag with sixteen stars. Out of this, number one has turned to gold, which is that of Warren Reaksecker. The officers were elected for the coming year.

Ladies wishing to join the nursing class will send their names to Mrs. C. V. Martin at once. Classes will start in February and are limited to 15 members to a class.

Home Service. It is suggested that the Red Cross workrooms throughout the country continue the observance of the Silent Moment each day at noon, with the prayer that our nation will continue united in the fulfillment of its ideals and in the support of its soldiers and sailors until the last man may be released from foreign service. G. E. Scott, General Manager.

Class B Allowances—The War Risk Bureau has made the following important regulations on allowances for Class B dependents: (1) Commencing January 1, 1919, Class B dependents cannot claim family allowances unless the man in service has made an allotment through the War Risk Bureau in accordance with the War Risk Law. Claims for Class B allowances now pending, which were based on allotments made through the man's military or naval organization, will be investigated and considered. (3) If any Class B relatives now make application for allowances, based on man's allotment through his military or naval organization, they will be advised that their allowance cannot be granted until the man transfers his allotment to the War Risk Bureau.

Disabled Soldiers: Home Service Sections should keep in mind that the policy of the War Department to keep disabled soldiers in the service for treatment until they are cured or as nearly cured as the nature of the disability permits, does not pertain to sailors and marines. The navy department has not yet adopted such a policy and, therefore, discharged sailors and marines may return home while still in need of medical treatment.

Home Service a Continuing Obligation: As contained in "Important Items" of last week, the National Red Cross at Washington has redefined the field of Home Service as including discharged soldiers and sailors and their families during a period of at least a year after discharge. The greater part of the American Expeditionary Forces are still in France. Only a small number of men have been returned from overseas up to the present time. The 35th and 89th Divisions, largely composed of Missouri and Kansas boys, are still overseas and will be for some time to come. Divisions from other parts of the Southwest are likewise overseas. Accordingly let all of us remember that the preesnt month and the months to come will require more and better Home Service work than ever. And let us not forget the obligations we owe the returning soldiers and sailors in helping them and their families during the difficult period of readjustment to civilian life.

To All My Good Frineds in the Southwestern Chapters: As I am about to sail on a government transport for Siberia upon an important mission concerning the Red Cross Commission to Siberia, I send this goodbye message to our chapters to explain that the need for my errand and my departure was so sudden that no opportunity offered to make suitable explanation to the chapters. I feel sure that the same characteristic support which Horace Swope received when I unexpectedly went to France last winter will now be placed behind Alfred Fairbank who is acting manager. The next few months will be the great test of our chapter organizations and I am confident the Southwestern will demonstrate that same response to whatever call national headquarters is asked to make, as has always placed our division in the lead. I hope to return within five months and renew the many delightful friendships and acquaintances with our hcapter workers, which have made the last eighteen months the most satisfying, of the hardest work of my life. I shall carry into my work in Siberia a gratitude for the privilege of having been selected to lead the great Southwestern Army of Red Crossers who so finely contributed to the winning of the war and who will continue as readily for any necessary peace duty.

How Long Must I Suffer From the Pangs of Rheumatism?

Is there no real relief in sight?

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that your Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons from your blood. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. You can get valuable advice about the treatment of your individual case by writing to the Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. D, Atlanta, Ga.

Elk Destroy Orchards.

Bristol, Tenn., Jan. 17.—Virginia farms and apple orchards have suffered severely this season from the ravages of elk, according to the reports of game wardens of West Virginia. A considerable amount of fruit on the trees and field crops were destroyed in the mountainous section, where the elk got into orchards and fields with fine disregard for high fences. The elk were brought into Virginia from the west and the Virginia legislature enacted a law protecting them for five years.

TO ASK CONVENTION

NEED FOR NEW CONSTITUTION WILL BE SHOWN LEGISLATURE

DUNCAN PREPARES BILL

Under Its Terms a Special Election Will Be Held August 1 to Determine Sentiment of the People.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Senator Duncan of Lincoln county has prepared a bill for calling a state constitutional convention. Under its terms a special election will be held August 1, 1919, to ascertain if the people will indorse the proposition. If a majority of the voters affirm the calling of the convention each of the 34 state senatorial districts will elect two delegates. Section 15, article 3, of the constitution empowers the governor to call a special election in each of the districts for the election of delegates. It is provided in the Duncan measure that the delegates shall assemble in Jefferson City the tenth Tuesday following the election. A provision of the measure is to the effect that candidates for delegates must announce themselves through petitions filed with the Secretary of State containing at least 5 per cent of the qualified voters of the districts. The general primary election laws will apply to the various parties in naming their candidates. The sum of $100,000 is named for bearing the expenses of the convention.

A bitter feud is raging in the Hohenzollern family. In conversation with intimate friends the crown prince has described the kaiser within the last few days as an accomplished liar, a turnover, a hypocrite, a weak-kneed wobbler, a monarch who guzzled while his people starved, and an agent of the devil.

G.O.P.'S HAVE A WAY

CONSTITUTION PLAN TOO SLOW, SAY LEADERS

REVISION IS SUGGESTED

Would Have Joint Committee Prepare Series of Amendments Supplying Things Most Needed.

Jefferson City, Jan. 17.—A plan for revision of the Missouri state constitution without waiting for the slow method of a constitutional convention will be submitted t oGov. Gardner by Representative John G. Dyott of Howell county, Republican majority floor leader of the house, who already has been told his proposition will receive support of Republican and Democratic leaders in both houses. Dyott made an effort to submit the plan informally to the governor Tuesday, but the governor was busy, and it will be laid before the executive in writing. Dyott's plan is for each house to select the strongest committee possible on constitutional revision, in conference with leaders of both parties and with the governor himself. Such committee would give representation to the ablest men of both parties. Dyott believes the two parties can get together and agree on the personnel of the committees, and for this reason Speaker O'Fallon is now holding off on selecting this committee in the house. He is in accord with Dysot's plan. The two committees, working possibly thru a joint committee, would then be given instructions to prepare a series of amendments correcting the most glaring defects in the present constitution and supplying the things most urgently needed in a new constitution.

Dyott hopes to have these amendments submitted at a special election called by the governor, but the state constitution requires that amendments be submitted at a regular election. Dyott hopes this can be got around in some way by statutory provision. If not, the amendments, which virtually would give the state a new constitution would be submitted at the next general election preceded by an educational campaign.

"The Republicans will never stand for a constitutional convention until the state has been redistricted," Dyott said. "Besides I do not believe that the public mind, unsettled by a great war just ended is in condition to enact fundamental laws. Men of both parties that I have talked with here say the plan I have suggested will afford the quickest remedy, on taxation and other problems."

Advice to Bridegrooms.

It has come to be almost a tradition that men give advice, not to take it. A pleasant novelty appears in the January Good Housekeeping in the shape of pungent philosophy on the marriage question, written by Dorothy Dix.

De papers is full of heart-to-heart talks to wives 'bout how to keep young an' willowy, so as to retain deir husbands' affection, but dere aint a word in 'em, from kiver to kiver, to men 'bout how to keep de hair on deir haids an' from gittin' to look lak beer kegs on skids in order to preserve deir wives love.

An' when a gal is gwine to git married, her ma, an' her married sisters, an' her cousins an' her aunts takes her off to one side an' des fills her up wid useful hints 'bout gittin' off on de right foot, an' strikin' her husban' for his pay envelop befo' he gits well enough acquainted with her to dast to refuse her, and drawin' de line at mo' dan one evenin' out a week, an' de odder matters dat helps a woman be de fust finger in her house.

But you never heah of a father, nor a brother, nor a friend who's passed through de tribulations of matermony hangin' up any red lanterns as danger signals for any odder man dat's about to start on de matermonial 'scursion Nawm, if a man ever finds out how to manage a wife, he keeps de snap to hisself an' leaves ev'y odder man to work out his own salvation de best he can.

A YANK HUNS COULD'T DOWN

Serg. G. W. Hardy Was Eight Times on Casualty List but He's Back Home Safe and Sound.

Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 17.—Sergeant George W. Hardy is one of Uncle Sam's solditrs that the Huns couldn't kill. Eight times his name was on the casualty list, but now he's back home safe and sound. Seven times he was wounded. Twice he was gassed by mustard gas. He spent nine weeks in a German prison camp from which he made a daring escape. Hardy was one of the first 30,000 American soldiers on the firing line in France, and he served with two United States divisions which were practically wiped out. This twenty-three year old lad has been complimented by General Pershing for bravery. He declined to try for a commission. "I wanted to be in action all the time and not scratching my desk with spurs," he said.

NODAWAY'S REPRESENTATIVES.

Wm. Job Gets a Prominent Place in "Who's Who in Missouri Legislature"—On Many Committees.

Under "Who's Who in the Missouri Legislature," Mosby's magazine has the the following concerning Wm. Job, Nodaway County's representative at Jefferson City.

William Job (Democrat), representative from Nodaway county, was born November 15,1864, at Filmore, Ind., and moved with his parents to Nodaway county, Missouri, Oct. 26,1866, where he has since lived. He was educated in the public schools and at the business college at Maryville. Was married to Miss Clara Bishop Dec. 24, 1884, at Maryville. When twenty-one years of age he was selected assessor of Polk township and was re-elected two years later. Was deputy county collector, when township organization was declared unconstitutional. Was assistant bookkeeper in the State Treasurer's office during the Forty-eighth General Assembly. He was one of six farmers that organized the Farmer's Mutual Telephone company of Maryville, which is now one of the strongest mutual exchanges in the State. In the last session Mr. Job was a member of the Committees on Engrossed Bills; Normal Schools, Printing, Township Organization, and Ways and Means. His re-election shows that his public services are appreciated by his home people. He will make good again this year, as usual.

G'ANT DAM RIVALS NIAGARA

Huge construction in Tennessee Mountains Just Completed at a Cost of $1,000,000.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 15.—Surpassed only by the Roosevelt dam and Niagara Falls, and the largest dam east of the Roosevelt dam, is the mammoth new dam just completed at Cheoah, in the mountains forty-seven miles south of Knoxville.

Twelve hundred men worked over two years on it. Two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete were used. It is 210 feet high from surface of river to crest. It raises a mist one hundred feet high as its water strikes the river after flowing over the top. It is 350 feet long at the base, 725 feet long at the top, 175 feet thick at the base and twelve feet thick at the top. Six days were required to fill the lake behind it, which is ten miles long; engineers had figured on twenty-one days, but a heavy rain helped. It will produce 7,500 units more of horsepower than the combined consumption of Knoxville, Memphis, Chattanooga and Nashville, or over 80,000 horsepower. It is almost identical with the Roosevelt dam in the West. The cost was over $1,000,000. Another dam will also be built in that region. It was built by and for the Knoxville Power company, an ally of the Aluminum Company of America.

CALLS OUR AD WRITERS POETS.

Foreign Observer Impressed by This Feature of American Journalism.

Maria Morawsky, writing in the Bookman, propounds the original idea that our ad writers are none other than poets. After much praise of the fairness of the American newspaper, she goes on to say:

"But the best thing about them is the advertisements. They are simply magnificent! They are full of wit, even poetry; they read like fiction. We never had anything like that in Russia. 'Full moon tonight,' I read a poetical beginning of an advertisement. I thought it was the first line of a poem. But when I continued, it urged me to buy a warm plaid, because the full moon evenings of autumn are chilly.

"It is often like that with your advertisements; they begin with the most unearthly and poetical things; love and the nightingale—roses and 'the skin you love to touch.' And they end with woolen underwear and soap. I suspect all your publicity agents are recruited from the crowd of unsuccessful poets."

The exemption board, if we remember correctly, was in accord with this idea when it proposed to exempt ad writers, poets and riveters.

FOCH FAVORS HUN REQUEST

To Permit Food Exchange and Return of Prisoners.

Amsterdam, Jan. 20.—Replying to a letter from Mathias Erzberger, head of the German armistice delegation, urging the return of German prisoners of war and relaxation of trade restrictions between occupied and unoccupied Germany, Marshall Foch, in a letter dated January 16, said he intends to recommend the return of prisoners most deserving sympathy, and was prepared to permit an exchange of food between occupied and unoccupied Germany to an extent which would obviate unemployment and consequent disturbances.

A total of 24,234,210 men, or 47 per cent of the entire male population of the nation, registered for military service; 2,600,000 had been inducted into the army, and 2,000,000 more were available for immediate call.

VOLUME 9. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, MONDAY, JAN. 20, 1919 NO. 194

State Historical Society COLUMBIA

TO CLOSE OFFICE

MISSOURI DIV. OF FOOD CONTROL WILL QUIT JANUARY 31

A REMARKABLE SUCCESS

Further Direction of Activities Will Be Carried Out by Washington—Some Rules Still in Force.

Columbia, Mo., Jan. 20.—The Missouri Division of the United States Food Administration will come to an end January 31, F. B. Mumford, federal food administrator for Missouri, has announced. On that day the offices in Columbia will close as well as the offices of all county food administrators.

Many of the rules and regulations of the Food Administration have been rescinded, but those still in force must be observed, according to Mr. Mumford. Then enforcement of the remaining rules will be carried on by the Washington office.

"The remarkable success of the Food Administration in Missouri is due in a large measure to the patriotic, voluntary support of consumers, dealers and proprietors of hotels, and restaurants," said Mr. Mumford. 'All of the requests made during the last year were cheerfully followed out. The women of the state deserve much credit for the way in which they not only observed all our requests for conservation in food, but did active work in order that the necessary food might be saved.

"A year ago the situation was critical. The Allies needed wheat. Without bread their morale would collapse. This collapse was feared by officials of the Food Administration. The wheat had to be provided out of our own stores and we had no more than enough for our own use. What was sent had to be what was saved from our normal consumption.

"The people of Missouri were quick to see the absolute military necessity of sending wheat across to the needy Allies. And they saved. Wheat consumption in the state was reduced from 50 to 75 per cent. There was little grumbling. Some few made no attempts to conserve, but they were the great minority.

"The county food administrators and their deputies and the women food chairmen did splendid work in carrying out the requests and the regulations of the Food Administration. They worked purely from patriotic motives and performed a great service.

"We of the Food Administration also feel deeply indebted to the newspapers of the state for their loyal cooperation. The editors of Missouri gladly gave space in their papers to news of the Food Administration. Without their aid we should have labored under a great handicap."

RY LOAN TO BE LAST

Not Exceed 6 Billions and May Be But 5 Billions—Drive Last Three Weeks in April.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Only one more war loan drive is planned by the treasury department according to Secretary Glass. It will be the Victory Liberty loan to be floated probably the last three weeks in April. The amount will not be more than $6,000,000,000, and may be $5,000,000,000.

"I expect the Victory Liberty loan to be the last intensive campaign for the sale of government bonds," said Mr. Glass. "Reports that there would be two more bond issues this year aggregating $12,000,000,000, are entirely without foundation, not only as to amount, but also as regards the number of campaigns."

More bonds probably will be issued by the government, even after the next campaign, but it is planned to market these quietly through banks, and other financial institutions, without the usual campaign of advertising and soliciting. The amount of securities to be sold in this manner will not be determined for months, until the treasury gets a more definite idea of the volume of expenses growing out of liquidating of war contracts, the Allies' needs for further loans and the demands arising from continuing the policy of making loans to railroads, financing the next wheat crop, continuing shipbuilding, and other internal obligations.

2 YEARS FOR GOBIN

PATHETIC SCENE IN COURT AS SENTENCE IS PRONOUNCED

HIS ATTORNEY'S PLEA

Impresses Court With Earnestness—Judge Dawson Will Consider Parole If Red Cross Asks It.

Raymond E. Gobin, charged with obtaining money from the Red Cross on a worthless check was sentenced by Judge John M. Dawson in circuit court this morning to two years in the state penitentiary, the minimum sentence being imposed.

A pathetic scene was enacted in the court room following the sentence of the young sailor and manipulator of worthless checks as court officials, attaches and spectators witnessed the grief of a mother and sister.

Young Gobin offered no defense, but through his attorney, A. D. Bennett, of Miami, Okla., pleaded guilty to the charge and asked for a parole. Attorney Bennett said that Gobin committed his first crime when he swore falsely to his age in order to enlist in the navy, being but nineteen years old at the time. A fatherless boy from infancy, Mr. Bennett declared had grown up without being made to realize his obligations to society and that the course he had pursued was due to association. Liquor, immoral women and fast companions were also shown to have played an important part in his career of the last few months. Mr. Bennett asked that he be paroled to some responsible citizen of Miami and that he assume the obligation of repayment to those whom he had defrauded. He presented to the court a petition signed by county and city officers and citizens of his home town, asking that he be paroled.

Prosecuting Attorney Chas. McCaffrey after reviewing the circumstances in connection with Gobin's arrest said he would recommend that the court assess punishment.

Judge Dawson in pronouncing sentence told Gobin that he felt little sympathy for him., but that his heart went out to his mother and sister. "You are evidently a young man of education and refinement and have brought this on yourself and I feel that a parole, unless recommended by officials of the Red Cross, would not be proper."

Judge Dawson said that should Red Cross officials recommend a parole before Gobin was taken from the jurisdiction of the court he would give it consideration.

During the proceedings Gobin, seated beside his mother and sister wept frequently. As sentence was pronounced, his sister, Miss Musa Gobin, broke down and throwing her arms about her brother's neck sobbed out her grief. The mother also gave evidence of distress and several times gave way to tears.

When her son was led away by Sheriff Dowden, she pressed forward and taking Judge Dawson by the hand and thanked him for the consideration he had shown.

GIRLS TEAM LOST TO HOPKINS

M. H. S. Basketeers Met Defeat in Saturday Night's Game 41 to 10—Big Crowd Witnessed Game.

The M. H. S. girls' basket ball team went to Hopkins last Saturday night for a game with the Hopkins five and expected to come back with the long end of the count and, incidentally to impress Coach Zeigler's men with their superior ability. But, alas and lack, they had to acknowledge equality with mere male players for they returned home with the short end of 41 to 10 count. Miss Denny, coach and her aggregation of players gave the Hopkinsites a run for their money, however, and played a good game, but their opponents were too fast for them.

Following are the members of the team: Mary Miller, Ruth Bookman, Ruth Miller, Marie Kissinger, Margaret Dietz, Mabel Raines and Martha Kennedy. Some fifteen or twenty fans went along and a good sized crowd witnessed the game.

Paris, Jan. 20.—The peace representatives of the big five—England, France, America, Japan and Italy, met at the foreign office today to canvass the intricate problems involved in the conference but notably the situation in Russia. Grave concern among the international statesmen attending the conference concerning the threat of the Bolsheviki to spread through Europe is reflected in the decision to appoint a committee to investigate legislation regarding international labor. The investigations dealing with labor are under way.

It is felt some concrete foundations had been laid down for world wide agreements regarding wages, length of working hours, capacity of production, workmen's habitations, physical needs of workers and their families, and regulations of the part women and children are to play in the labor world of the future.

Washington, Jan. 20.—That President Wilson is seriously considering the appointment of an additional member of the American peace delegation, was learned today from authoritative source. According to confidential advices reaching Washington through official channels, the President inclines to the belief that during his absence from the conference for he is to sail home early next month, America should be represented by full quota of five delegates. Among the type of men expected to be appointed are the names of ex-President Taft and former Secretary of State Elihu Root.

ABOUT ROOSEVELT AND OTHERS.

(By W. C. Van Cleve).

The death of Theodore Roosevelt ends the most picturesque political career within the memory of this generation. His ability, his resourcefulness, his wonderful energy and enthusiasm made him a power in public life. Col. Roosevelt was a many sided man. Rarely has there been prominent in politics a man who had acquired distinction in so many fields of human endeavor. Ordinarily, the man who scatters shot hits nothing effectually but Col. Roosevelt was a rare exception. He won fame as a writer, as an artist, as an explorer, as a student, as a cowboy in the west, as a rough rider in the east, was prominent in naval affairs, commanded a regiment in the Spanish-American war and was elevated to the highest civil office within the gift of the American people.

He came of sturdy Holland stock and had ample means to enable him to choose his own life. In that he was different from most of our best men but he was also different from most men left in comfortable circumstances in that he chose a life of strenuous activity. After entering politics, he became a vigorous, forceful speaker. He was governor of his state, assistant secretary of the navy, vice president and afterward president of the United States.

His death is a distinct loss to the progressive element of the republican party and leaves the party in undisputed control of the reactionaries. Col. Roosevelt, had he lived, might or might not have been the next republican presidential nominee but, whether he was or not, he would have had much to say about who was. He could not be ignored. There is no one left among the progressive faction to whom the Penroses, Smoots and Lodges need pay much attention. His death has not only removed from our public life one of its greatest characters but it has left his party without a real progressive leader and left it more thoroughly in control of the 'old crowd' than it has been for many years. Col. Roosevelt had a wonderful store of knowledge about many things. His conclusions were not always correct but he did as much as any other one man to make countless millions think.

In obedience to the wishes of the President, the House of Representatives has voted an appropriation of $100,000,000 to help feed the starving people of Europe. The President believes that reason can not be expected of men with hungry stomachs. That is true, but the difficulty, in most parts of Europe, is that the fellows who are stirring up all the trouble have money. They have plundered their own governments and robbed all decent people to get it. They not only have money, but they are sending it into other countries in order to stir up strife throughout the world. It is difficult to see how any good can be done, in Russia for instance, without sending artillery and ammunition along with every loaf of bread and bushel of wheat to see that the real sufferers get it. If a certain number of Bolshevik leaders could be stood up against a stone wall and unceremoneously shot, it wouldn't be long until the honest, industrious people of that country would be raising food for themselves. The Old World is in a bad way and it is going to take the best thought of the remaining orderly governments to restore livable conditions.

A cane is an old man's strenght and a young man's weakness. A cigarette is a badge of weakness at any age.

DAILY HEALTH TALKS

A Single Remedy Often Cures Many Diseases

BY VALENTINE MOTT, M. D.

It is almost impossible to give a list of the endless diseases that follow indigestion. Perhaps a whole column in this newspaper would be required to print them all. You eat to keep alive—to supply blood and flesh and bone and muscle and brain. It is easy to see that if your food is not digested and taken up by the delicate organs and distributed where it is needed, a disease of some sort is sure to come. Dyspepsia is a common symptom, and so are liver complaint, loss of flesh, nervousness, bad memory, dizziness, sleeplessness, no appetite. Many times, when neglected, indigestion results in coughs, throat diseases, catarrh, bronchitis and even more dangerous things. And all these disorders arise because the food is not properly digested in the stomach. It is plain even to a child that relief and cure are to be had only by setting up a healthy condition in the stomach. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., many years ago combined a number of vegetable growths into a temperance remedy for indigestion, and called it Golden Medical Discovery. It is probably the most efficacious discovery ever made in medicine, for the list of people all over the world who have had their countless ills overcome by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes an amazing total of thousands.

I know of no advice better than this: Begin a home treatment today with this good vegetable medicine. It will show you better than I can tell you what it will do. When taking Golden Medical Discovery, you can rest assured of one very important thing—it contains neither alcohol nor opiates. There is nothing in it but standard roots and herbs that possess curative properties of a high order. A safe medicine is the only kind you can afford to take.

HE "GOT THROUGH"

BUT CAPT. DELEHANTY ADMITS HE WAS SCARED

FOUND LOST BATTALION

Former New York Architect Takes 177 Yanks and Leads Way in Dark, Securing Valuable Information.

Paris, Dec. 18.—(By Mail).—How Captain Bradley Delehanty, of the 308th, "got through to Whittlesey," when that now famous battalion commander was cut off in the Argonne Forest is a story that ranks with the heroic defense of Whittlesey itself.

Like Whittlesey, Delehanty is a city man, a New Yorker. He is a dapper little architect. But he comes of fighting blood. He is a son of the late Captain Daniel Delehanty, of the navy, who hopped down from the bridge of his gunboat off Matanzas, Cuba, in 1898, and himself pointed the gun that sent the last Spanish flag toppling off the battlements of the old forts there. He is a nephew of Supreme Court Justice Francis B. Delehanty of New York.

Before the war he had studied in Paris, so when he arrived in France his knowledge of the language soon landed him on the regimental staff as intelligence officer.

But during that fierce month of fighting up through the gun-blasted Argonne, as Delehanty says, reverting to the navy, "it was a case of all hands and the cook," and so it was that on the night of this particular exploit he was in command of a company of the 308th Infantry of the 77th Divison, the draft division of New York City.

Whittlesey, in command of his immortal battalion, was leading the advance. With his grim jaw set and his shoulders hunched he was forming the tough spearhead of the American advance to the west of the Meuse. He had got orders to go ahead and he had done it. He had done it better than any one thought he could—and he had been surrounded. A dozen ineffectual attempts had been made to pierce the screen of German machine guns and trench mortars that had filtered in behind him. When night fell the Colonel of the 308th sent for Delehanty.

"Go up to the support," he said. "Take command of K Company and get into touch with Whittlesey. We're getting nothing but a pigeon message from him now."

"It's tough country, that Argonne," Delehanty told the story later. "It's hard country to get through in the daytime. It's worse at night. And when I got up to K Company, machine gun bullets were flying like locusts, and whizz-bangs out of those trench mortars were flopping over every thirty seconds, and blowing boys to smithereens when they hit. I sent out half a dozen runners. But none of them ever came back. Finally I sent out two whole patrols with orders to reach Whittlesey by different routes. Then I reported to the Colonel. Anything else meant moving the whole company, and I had to ask him about that.

"Then every half hour or so he'd call on the telephone and ask me if I'd heard from these patrols. Finally about midnight, he couldn't stand it any longer.

"'Delehanty,' he said 'you've got a hundred and seventy-seven men there with you. You take them all. You go up through the woods until you connect with Whittlesey and you keep at it until you do get him, if you only have seven men left when you get there.'"

And Delehanty got there—n' seven, but with the whole hundred and seventy-seven. But he frankly admits he was scared.

"Well," he said turning with a grin to Lieutenant Scott, General Scott's son, who was with him. "This is goodbye, old kid."

"Yeah," replied Scott, "it looks like good-bye."

Delehanty called the company round him. He told them what the orders were. Not a man flinched.

"There's one chance of getting up there," said the young captain.

"If we go through the woods we'll get lost and shot. But there's a railroad track running up that way. If we follow that we may get shot—but we won't get lost. It's single file and every man keep a hand on the man ahead of him. Come on."

And Delehanty led the file. A tiny radio compass gave him the direction. The railroad embankment had been shelled and machine-gunned for hours. By a strange streak of luck the Boche had decided to let it alone for a few minutes. And K Company snaked up that track between bursts, the whole one hundred and sesventy-seven of them.

Suddenly Delehanty bumped into something.

It was Whittlesey's battalion.

"Holy smokes," he cried. "I didn't think you were this close."

eSa.Inse'.,Vvf....$M..o.KTl

"Sh Sh!" rasped the quick answer. "The Boche is there and there and there. He'll hear you." And he might have at that for the nervy band had sneaked through the single gap in the Boche ring. But they had established contact with Whittlesey.

One of the Whittlesey command had just killed a German officer. He had found on him a map of the whole neighboring woods, drawn up to the last minute. It revealed the whole problem that the Americans had been trying for days to solve in the dark. Delehanty was the regimental intelligence officer. He sent this message back to the Colonel.

"Have information of great importance. Shall I remain command K Company or return? Am with Whittlesey."

And the answer came back:

"Return."

So that is why Delehanty happened not to be with the Whittlesey battalion the next night when they were cut off for good and when they stayed cut off for nearly a whole week. But the map he brought back from that dead German officer was the map that enabled the American brigade finally to smash through to the ravine where Whittlesey's men were fighting and dying. Incidentally, it was the map that helped the Americans, too, to go far beyond. It was his nerve that took him through for the last connection with Whittlesey. It was his appreciation of the information he happened on that sent him back again over the perilous trail, and it was that information that eventually got Whittlesey out of his death ravine.

"Delehanty," they say in the Seventy seventh, "went through."

WAS AFRAID TO GO ON TOP OF HOUSE

Painter Was so Weak Could Hardly Walk—Gains Twenty Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

"I will cheerfully tell anyone who is looking for something to build them up, that Tanlac certainly brought me out of the kinks," was the characteristic statement made by John A. Meyers, house painter and decorator of Beardan, Washington, while in Margettroyd's at Spakane, Washington, recently.

"I can't say that I suffered any particular pain," he continued. "I believe I could have gone a week without feeling hungry. What little I did eat was forced down and seemed to do me no good, as I lost weight and strength all the time. I had gotten down to almost skin and bones and was so weak that I was actually afraid to go up on a house to paint. My energy had left me and I had gotten to where I could not hold out to do a whole day's work.

"I had read about Tanlac being fine for people in a run-down condition, and I have already gained twenty pounds. And speaking of appetites, I've got the best one I ever had. Meal times come too slow for me and when they do get around I hardly know when to quit eating. I have gotten my strength and energy back, too, and now I can do as much work as any man my age. I had been losing ground two or three years and nothing ever hit the spot until I got Tanlac, so it certainly is the medicine for me."

Tanlac is sold in Maryville by the Koch Pharmacy and by A. M. Colley of Burlington'5fwyprdlu aoin rdlu ldr of Conception Junction.—Adv.

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Red Cross News From Nodaway Auxiliaries

MRS ARTHUR M. CROOKE
Phone, Hanamo 4364

(Note:—Please report or send all news of Red Cross Activities to the editor of this column)

The following letter comes from the Southwest Division in regard to garments.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 13, 1919.—To All Chapters: Doubtless all of our chapter executives and workers as well, realize that our production program has been seriously interferred with for two reasons: First, the signing of the Armistice gave out the erroneous impression that Red Cross work was at an end, and second, the Influenza epidemic has been such a serious matter that many chapters have been entirely unable to carry on their production on program. This leaves us with some excess materials on hand which chapters have not been able to take, owing to the fact that they were literally, physically unable to do the work.

Knowing that refugee clothing must be gotten out and realizing the vital importance of completing this production order, we are going to ask all chapters that can possibly do so to take additional production orders. The garments are cut and ready for im mediate shipment. Therefore, if you can take additional work, notify us immediately and we will have the shipments go out at once.

As we have said before, it is absolutely necessary that this work is completed, and many communities unable to get nurses, have had to close their workrooms and give all their time to taking care of the ill of their vicinity. Of course, they cannot do what they would otherwise have done. Therefore, let us state again that we will be very grateful for the assistance of other chapters in this matter, and if it is possible for you to do extra work for the month of February, notify us immediately so that shipments may be started.

Thanking you most sincerely for this co-operation, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,
(MISS) KATHERINE BURLINGAME,
Director, Bureau of Production, Southwest Division, A. R. C., St. Louis, Mo.

The Alderman-Yehle Auxiliary met Tuesday evening with 10 members in attendance.

Woodmen Circle met Thursday night instead of Monday night owing to the Baptist which meets on Monday nights also. The Woodmen Circle will meet hereafter on Thursday evenings at 7:30.

Rockford Auxiliary met Wednesday, Jan. 15. This date was the first anniversary of the Rockford Auxiliary. During the forty meetings held, the 36 members have completed 9,055 articles in surgical dressings, nine pair socks, eleven sweaters, six pair drawers, three boys suits and two quilt tops. This auxiliary has a service flag with sixteen stars. Out of this, number one has turned to gold, which is that of Warren Reaksecker. The officers were elected for the coming year.

Ladies wishing to join the nursing class will send their names to Mrs. C. V. Martin at once. Classes will start in February and are limited to 15 members to a class.

Home Service. It is suggested that the Red Cross workrooms throughout the country continue the observance of the Silent Moment each day at noon, with the prayer that our nation will continue united in the fulfillment of its ideals and in the support of its soldiers and sailors until the last man may be released from foreign service. G. E. Scott, General Manager.

Class B Allowances—The War Risk Bureau has made the following important regulations on allowances for Class B dependents: (1) Commencing January 1, 1919, Class B dependents cannot claim family allowances unless the man in service has made an allotment through the War Risk Bureau in accordance with the War Risk Law. Claims for Class B allowances now pending, which were based on allotments made through the man's military or naval organization, will be investigated and considered. (3) If any Class B relatives now make application for allowances, based on man's allotment through his military or naval organization, they will be advised that their allowance cannot be granted until the man transfers his allotment to the War Risk Bureau.

Disabled Soldiers: Home Service Sections should keep in mind that the policy of the War Department to keep disabled soldiers in the service for treatment until they are cured or as nearly cured as the nature of the disability permits, does not pertain to sailors and marines. The navy department has not yet adopted such a policy and, therefore, discharged sailors and marines may return home while still in need of medical treatment.

Home Service a Continuing Obligation: As contained in "Important Items" of last week, the National Red Cross at Washington has redefined the field of Home Service as including discharged soldiers and sailors and their families during a period of at least a year after discharge. The greater part of the American Expeditionary Forces are still in France. Only a small number of men have been returned from overseas up to the present time. The 35th and 89th Divisions, largely composed of Missouri and Kansas boys, are still overseas and will be for some time to come. Divisions from other parts of the Southwest are likewise overseas. Accordingly let all of us remember that the present month and the months to come will require more and better Home Service work than ever. And let us not forget the obligations we owe the returning soldiers and sailors in helping them and their families during the difficult period of readjustment to civilian life.

To All My Good Frineds in the Southwestern Chapters: As I am about to sail on a government transport for Siberia upon an important mission concerning the Red Cross Commission to Siberia, I send this goodbye message to our chapters to explain that the need for my errand and my departure was so sudden that no opportunity offered to make suitable explanation to the chapters. I feel sure that the same characteristic support which Horace Swope received when I unexpectedly went to France last winter will now be placed behind Alfred Fairbank who is acting manager. The next few months will be the great test of our chapter organizations and I am confident the Southwestern will demonstrate that same response to whatever call national headquarters is asked to make, as has always placed our division in the lead. I hope to return within five months and renew the many delightful friendships and acquaintances with our hcapter workers, which have made the last eighteen months the most satisfying, of the hardest work of my life. I shall carry into my work in Siberia a gratitude for the privilege of having been selected to lead the great Southwestern Army of Red Crossers who so finely contributed to the winning of the war and who will continue as readily for any necessary peace duty.

The United States has written $38,000,000,000 of soldier insurance. As a gigantic financial undertaking which is practically certain to fulfill its purpose without embarrassing the nation in the least, it sets a world record of a new variety.

A great increase in the rat population of England is thought to be due largely to the decrease in the number of dogs, which have been gradually starved out by the exigencies of war, the feeding of dogs having become a serious matter when food was scarce.

The elk were brought into Virginia from the west and the Virginia legislature enacted a law protecting them for five years.

How Long Must I Suffer From the Pangs of Rheumatism?

Is there no real relief in sight?

Doubtless like other sufferers, you have often asked yourself this question, which continues to remain unanswered.

Science has proven that your Rheumatism is caused by a germ in your blood, and the only way to reach it is by a remedy which eliminates and removes these little pain demons from your blood. This explains why liniments and lotions can do no permanent good, for they cannot possibly reach these germs which infest your blood by the millions.

S. S. S. has been successfully used for Rheumatism for more than fifty years. Try it to-day, and you will find yourself at last on the right track to get rid of your Rheumatism. You can get valuable advice about the treatment of your individual case by writing to the Chief Medical Adviser, Swift Specific Co., Dept. D, Atlanta, Ga.

TO ASK CONVENTION

NEED FOR NEW CONSTITUTION WILL BE SHOWN LEGISLATURE

DUNCAN PREPARES BILL

Under Its Terms a Special Election Will Be Held August 1 to Determine Sentiment of the People.

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 17.—Senator Duncan of Lincoln county has prepared a bill for calling a state constitutional convention. Under its terms a special election will be held August 1, 1919, to ascertain if the people will indorse the proposition. If a majority of the voters affirm the calling of the convention each of the 34 state senatorial districts will elect two delegates. Section 15, article 3, of the constitution empowers the governor to call a special election in each of the districts for the election of delegates. It is provided in the Duncan measure that the delegates shall assemble in Jefferson City the tenth Tuesday following the election. A provision of the measure is to the effect that candidates for delegates must announce themselves through petitions filed with the Secretary of State containing at least 5 per cent of the qualified voters of the districts. The general primary election laws will apply to the various parties in naming their candidates. The sum of $100,000 is named for bearing the expenses of the convention.

A bitter feud is raging in the Hohenzollern family. G.O.P.'S HAVE A WAY

CONSTITUTION PLAN TOO SLOW, SAY LEADERS

REVISION IS SUGGESTED

Would Have Joint Committee Prepare Series of Amendments Supplying Things Most Needed.

Jefferson City, Jan. 17.—A plan for revision of the Missouri state constitution without waiting for the slow method of a constitutional convention will be submitted t oGov. Gardner by Representative John G. Dyott of Howell county, Republican majority floor leader of the house, who already has been told his proposition will receive support of Republican and Democratic leaders in both houses. Dyott made an effort to submit the plan informally to the governor Tuesday, but the governor was busy, and it will be laid before the executive in writing. Dyott's plan is for each house to select the strongest committee possible on constitutional revision, in conference with leaders of both parties and with the governor himself. Such committee would give representation to the ablest men of both parties. Dyott believes the two parties can get together and agree on the personnel of the committees, and for this reason Speaker O'Fallon is now holding off on selecting this committee in the house. He is in accord with Dysot's plan. The two committees, working possibly thru a joint committee, would then be given instructions to prepare a series of amendments correcting the most glaring defects in the present constitution and supplying the things most urgently needed in a new constitution.

Dyott hopes to have these amendments submitted at a special election called by the governor, but the state constitution requires that amendments be submitted at a regular election. Dyott hopes this can be got around in some way by statutory provision. If not, the amendments, which virtually would give the state a new constitution would be submitted at the next general election preceded by an educational campaign.

"The Republicans will never stand for a constitutional convention until the state has been redistricted," Dyott said. "Besides I do not believe that the public mind, unsettled by a great war just ended is in condition to enact fundamental laws. Men of both parties that I have talked with here say the plan I have suggested will afford the quickest remedy, on taxation and other problems."

Advice to Bridegrooms.

It has come to be almost a tradition that men give advice, not to take it. A pleasant novelty appears in the January Good Housekeeping in the shape of pungent philosophy on the marriage question, written by Dorothy Dix.

De papers is full of heart-to-heart talks to wives 'bout how to keep young an' willowy, so as to retain deir husbands' affection, but dere aint a word in 'em, from kiver to kiver, to men 'bout how to keep de hair on deir haids an' from gittin' to look lak beer kegs on skids in order to preserve deir wives love.

An' when a gal is gwine to git married, her ma, an' her married sisters, an' her cousins an' her aunts takes her off to one side an' des fills her up wid useful hints 'bout gittin' off on de right foot, an' strikin' her husban' for his pay envelop befo' he gits well enough acquainted with her to dast to refuse her, and drawin' de line at mo' dan one evenin' out a week, an' de odder matters dat helps a woman be de fust finger in her house.

But you never heah of a father, nor a brother, nor a friend who's passed through de tribulations of matermony hangin' up any red lanterns as danger signals for any odder man dat's about to start on de matermonial 'scursion Nawm, if a man ever finds out how to manage a wife, he keeps de snap to hisself an' leaves ev'y odder man to work out his own salvation de best he can.

Forum-ettes

If the average person acted on the suggestion to laugh at trouble, he would be picked up and bundled off to the insane asylum by the nervous populace before the end of the first week.

With an absolutely and positively dry nation shortly, the bartenders are not worrying about women taking their places.

Most of us can find plenty of temptation without being led into it.

And there's the individual who takes his letters slowly out of a post office box and gives each an X-ray examination while he holds back a line of people who would get their mail and be off with it if he would get out of the way.

Observation: We have noticed that people who are nice about their wickedness seldom have any trouble over it.

Many a woman who is horrified at the thought of gambling thinks nothing of purchasing a dozen store eggs.

Observation: Some men we know are so cautious along with their goodness that even while singing "I want to soar to Heaven on the wings of love," they maintain a secure grip on a parachute.

A YANK HUNS COULD'T DOWN

Serg. G. W. Hardy Was Eight Times on Casualty List but He's Back Home Safe and Sound.

Fitchburg, Mass., Jan. 17.—Sergeant George W. Hardy is one of Uncle Sam's solditrs that the Huns couldn't kill. Eight times his name was on the casualty list, but now he's back home safe and sound. Seven times he was wounded. Twice he was gassed by mustard gas. He spent nine weeks in a German prison camp from which he made a daring escape. Hardy was one of the first 30,000 American soldiers on the firing line in France, and he served with two United States divisions which were practically wiped out. This twenty-three year old lad has been complimented by General Pershing for bravery. He declined to try for a commission. "I wanted to be in action all the time and not scratching my desk with spurs," he said.

NODAWAY'S REPRESENTATIVES.

Wm. Job Gets a Prominent Place in "Who's Who in Missouri Legislature"—On Many Committees.

Under "Who's Who in the Missouri Legislature," Mosby's magazine has the the following concerning Wm. Job, Nodaway County's representative at Jefferson City.

William Job (Democrat), representative from Nodaway county, was born November 15,1864, at Filmore, Ind., and moved with his parents to Nodaway county, Missouri, Oct. 26,1866, where he has since lived. He was educated in the public schools and at the business college at Maryville. Was married to Miss Clara Bishop Dec. 24, 1884, at Maryville. When twenty-one years of age he was selected assessor of Polk township and was re-elected two years later. Was deputy county collector, when township organization was declared unconstitutional. Was assistant bookkeeper in the State Treasurer's office during the Forty-eighth General Assembly. He was one of six farmers that organized the Farmer's Mutual Telephone company of Maryville, which is now one of the strongest mutual exchanges in the State. In the last session Mr. Job was a member of the Committees on Engrossed Bills; Normal Schools, Printing, Township Organization, and Ways and Means. His re-election shows that his public services are appreciated by his home people. He will make good again this year, as usual.

G'ANT DAM RIVALS NIAGARA

Huge construction in Tennessee Mountains Just Completed at a Cost of $1,000,000.

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 15.—Surpassed only by the Roosevelt dam and Niagara Falls, and the largest dam east of the Roosevelt dam, is the mammoth new dam just completed at Cheoah, in the mountains forty-seven miles south of Knoxville.

Twelve hundred men worked over two years on it. Two hundred thousand cubic yards of concrete were used. It is 210 feet high from surface of river to crest. It raises a mist one hundred feet high as its water strikes the river after flowing over the top. It is 350 feet long at the base, 725 feet long at the top, 175 feet thick at the base and twelve feet thick at the top. Six days were required to fill the lake behind it, which is ten miles long; engineers had figured on twenty-one days, but a heavy rain helped. It will produce 7,500 units more of horsepower than the combined consumption of Knoxville, Memphis, Chattanooga and Nashville, or over 80,000 horsepower. It is almost identical with the Roosevelt dam in the West. The cost was over $1,000,000. Another dam will also be built in that region. It was built by and for the Knoxville Power company, an ally of the Aluminum Company of America.

CALLS OUR AD WRITERS POETS.

Foreign Observer Impressed by This Feature of American Journalism.

Maria Morawsky, writing in the Bookman, propounds the original idea that our ad writers are none other than poets. After much praise of the fairness of the American newspaper, she goes on to say:

"But the best thing about them is the advertisements. They are simply magnificent! They are full of wit, even poetry; they read like fiction. We never had anything like that in Russia. 'Full moon tonight,' I read a poetical beginning of an advertisement. I thought it was the first line of a poem. But when I continued, it urged me to buy a warm plaid, because the full moon evenings of autumn are chilly.

"It is often like that with your advertisements; they begin with the most unearthly and poetical things; love and the nightingale—roses and 'the skin you love to touch.' And they end with woolen underwear and soap. I suspect all your publicity agents are recruited from the crowd of unsuccessful poets."

The exemption board, if we remember correctly, was in accord with this idea when it proposed to exempt ad writers, poets and riveters.

FOCH FAVORS HUN REQUEST

To Permit Food Exchange and Return of Prisoners.

Amsterdam, Jan. 20.—Replying to a letter from Mathias Erzberger, head of the German armistice delegation, urging the return of German prisoners of war and relaxation of trade restrictions between occupied and unoccupied Germany, Marshall Foch, in a letter dated January 16, said he intends to recommend the return of prisoners most deserving sympathy, and was prepared to permit an exchange of food between occupied and unoccupied Germany to an extent which would obviate unemployment and consequent disturbances.

A total of 24,234,210 men, or 47 per cent of the entire male population of the nation, registered for military service; 2,600,000 had been inducted into the army, and 2,000,000 more were available for immediate call.
